Alderman Harris explained that in the past there were two people who worked with the utility management, and they were the only ones who knew the program. CITY CODES:

The mayor updated the board regarding codes enforcement for the city. Violation letters have been sent out. The mayor noted that there is a huge problem with open burning throughout the city. Lannette Adamson was present and asked if she could get reports on codes enforcement and if they are profitable. Mayor Wilson responded that codes enforcement is not making money for the city, and she let Ms. Adamson know that she could get information on what the codes enforcement person is paid, how many hours she works, and the revenue that was produced through our court. Mayor Wilson explained that all violations must be given ten days to respond, and another 10 days to be in compliance with city codes. And when the property owner complies, the court did not fine them. Codes enforcement is for cleaning, maintaining or improving the property only, not for making profit. Ms. Adamson stated that she was upset that when her 84-year-old mother's neighbor cut down her mother's tree to the east of her mother's property that the mayor, alderman, and community did not show any support for her mother when she was called names and harassed by said neighbor. The mayor responded that the Ms. Adamson would need to contact the Platte County Sheriff's Department because it is the county that must respond to a civil matter, and that Ms. Adamson would need to hire an attorney to help her with this issue. Ms. Adamson also stated that the Mohammed property across from city hall is zoned for a single family, and there are multiple families residing in that property. Ms. Adamson questioned why the city was allowing that. The mayor responded that without a police department there is no way of going door to door to verify that everyone in every home is related. Ms. Adamson thinks that the city is wasting money on too many employees and does not understand why the city needs to employ all these people. The mayor indicated that the city only has a total of 5 employees, and Ms. Adamson was told that the city is in the best financial shape it has ever been in. The mayor then stated that these problems were not going to be solved tonight, and that the meeting needed to be adjourned.
